The Daily Standard. Tuesday, August 12, 1873. Bribery and Corruption. The revelations that have recently been made in connection with what is now known as the "railway scandal," if they do not sands, on which, unfortunately, more than prove anything else, will establish, beyond one colonial celebrity have irretriefably all question of doubt, the fact that bribery and corruption have been practiced at elections of members to represent constituencies in the House of Commons to an extent that few people could have believed, and that foremost among those who resorted to that discreditable, if not criminal, means of obtaining power and influence in the councils of the Dominion, were those gentlemen who discharged the duties of Misisters of the Crown, the sworn advisers of Her Majesty's Crown, the sworn advisers of Her Majesty's fepresentative. That such a system should have culminated in the disgraceful exposures have culminated in the disgraceful exposures that such a system should after the expiration of two calendar months after the expiration of two calendar mont that have been dragged to the light of day by the Opposition press and party on the other side of the mountains, was on'y what other side of the mountains, was on'y what might have been expected; and let us hope by a Creek having a general course of North-west an South East. that if no other good comes of it, it will lead to a thorough reformation in the method of conducting elections of those who go to represent the people in the central Legislature of the Dominion. During the session of 1871 or '72, we forget exactly which, Mr. Blake sought to have an act passed to prevent In the Estate of George bribery, treating, and undue influence at elections of members of the House of Comons, and although such a law exists in respect of several, if not all, of the local Legislatures, and has been productive of the very best results, strange to say the Government of the Dominion refused to permit the principle to be applied in the case of elections to the House of Commons, and the reasons which induced the Government to oppose the application of the principle to the central lature are now made tolerably apparent. At the last general elections money was spent with a lavish hand, openly and unblashingly, with a view to procure political support, and it is a well known fact that in many instances constituencies were carried by virtue of votes bought and paid for, instead of being decided by a conscientious ex-pression of opinion based upon sound politi-cal principle. We do not pretend to say that the friends of the Government were more guilty in this respect than were those who belonged to the Opposition ranks. Doubtless they were six of one and half a dozen of the other both equally guilty so far as a use tors and obtain control of the government of the country by the foulest possible means The present Government are the more guilty Government are the more guilty power to cure the giant evil but declined to do so, and not only did they decline to nterfere to check the evil, but they took adventage of the situation which the absence of legal restraint afforded them to use golden arguments to procure votes when the enunciation of principles failed to command the not he the slightest doubt in the world, st the documentary evidence already published conclusively establishes that fact. We have the Premier of the Government telegraphing to Mr. Abbott, on the 26th August, 1872, for another" ten thousand, for election purposes, and on the same day Mr. Abbott reposes, and on the same day Mr. Abbott repites, "Draw on me for ten thousand," and the Premier did draw, and acknowledged the reachet of the money. Two days previously Sir Geo. E. Cartier telegraphed to "Dear Mr. Abbott" for a "further sum of twenty thousand dollars," the receipt of which was duly acknowledged, August 26tb, "in accordance with the request contained in his sams of mone, were admittedly obtained for election purposes," and no one will believe that they were used to cover legitimate exaditures. Ten or twenty thousand dollars would go a very long way toward paying le-gitimate electioneering expenses, from one end of the country to the other; but of course these sums would soon melt away when votes were up in the market, to be given to those who would pay the most for them. We can therefore easily understand how money was to first all over the country during the last general elections. Three hundred and fiftyix thousand dollars represents only partially what was spent on one side, or in the interest of one party, on that occasion ; but what the expenditures of the other side were, there is no possibility of arriving at even a sear approximation. No doubt they amounted to a very large sum. Is it not high time, in the interest of public morality and for the credit of the country, that legislative action should be taken to put an effectual stop to such procodings in future? When our law-makers gain the positions they occupy by means the most corrupt and shameless, how can the prople expect any other than corrupt laws, and a corrupt administration of public affects. A bad tree cannot bring forth good fruit, nor can a pure stream proceed from an impure fountain; neither can a government, which owes its existence to bribery and corruption, be expected to conduct the affairs of the country upon principles of sound morality. We do not mean to allege that the existing Government are one whit worse than the "loyal" Opposition would have been, had their circumstances been changed; but we do say that a Government, whether it be "Progressive" or "Grit," that obtains by an appeal to the cupidity of the and patriotism, are unworthy of the Cows, 2 year olds, yearlings and culve trust they hold and should be swept out of Horses, Harness, Carts, Ploughs &c. existence at the earliest possible moment. The following extract from the Toronto The following extract from the distance of the point, and we feel assured will be entered to the point, and we feel assured will be entered to the point, and we feel assured will be entered to the point, and we feel assured will be entered to the point, and we feel assured will be entered to the point, and we feel assured to the point, and we feel assured to the point of the poin and disgraceful as it is, would it not have been infinitely worse if there had been no exposure, and if the whole scheme as it is bow known, had been carried to a final and Bulsters, Superior new Blankets, Lamps would have been infinitely worse, and even the conspirators might have been so harden-ed as to give scarcely any hope of ultimate to repeatance. The constituencies of the to repeat the constituence of the constit Ora would have been put absolutely out of court. The shock, no doubt, is great. Our good name as Canadians has been grievously compromised, and those whom the majority among us have professedly honored and to lowed have been left almost without a shred of character to hide their shame. Yet, let us be thankful. The commotion will clear the moral and political atmosphere, which has been thick and unbreathable. It will be being home to multitudes the greatly neede. be excused on the plea of party or political pecessity—that the and does not sanctify the means, and that money is not after all, omasy sipotent. SHIPLEY AND BROWN .- The P. T. Argus reports that the pirates, Shipley and Brown, who filled the whole Sound country with terror, were seen last week. A man who gets a livelihood by picking up saw logs along the saore of the Sound, was rowing slong the shore of Whidby Island, just abreast of Marrowstone Point, when he observed a whitehall boat coming towards him with two men in it. Th New York, July 12 .- The agents in this Signal Office stretching out its lines of me teorologic sentinels, as is now proposed will occupy stations at Havana, Santiago de Cuba, Kingston (Jam ic.), Porto Rico, St. Toemas, Antigua, Guadeloupe and St. Vin-cent, in the Windward Island, and thence by the lateral cable from St. Vincent to Barb. dos it will plant its extreme outpost at this latter island. Barbades lies in the best por-sible position to furnish the earliest promonition of the hurricane which is on its way to ravage the sea coasts of the United States. At most of the West Indian islands the terrible road of these revolving storms can be

But at Barbados, although this is land was the scene of the historic storm of 1780-known as "The Great Hurricane"they have seldom acquired violence enough to be audible as they approach its southeast-ern shore While in the Carribbean sea these fearful meteors have an enormous speed of rotation, but the speed of trauslation which they attain is happily but very small, and never more than twenty miles an hour, and seldom half as much as that. There is, therefore, generally a period of several days intervening between the sage of the cyclone over the Windward is lands and its arrival on the Gult or the South Atlantic coast, in which the Signal Office can give ample warning both by mail and
